

Spinning Top

Woah Woah Woah! I can spin around on your shoulder just as if I was your own shoulder-attached fidget spinner! This also makes me excel at seeing things from new perspectives. I also love playing games with other pumpkins and drinking from the Internet firehose. So much great stuff for a wacky pumpkin like me!

Cyclo-pilot

This pumpkin may only have one eye, but it makes up for its limited vision with amped up processing power! With access to the latest cutting-edge models, it will help you tunnel vision onto your work and keep you from any distractions. Adopt today to see how cyclo-pilot can help you!

Jean-Pierre-Pilote

Viva la Mistral! I am an internationally-oriented pumpkin, specially trained for work in business and government settings in over 125 countries! I may not do well with cultural references in the U.S. setting though, so not good for children and teenagers.

Shy-pilot

Don't be fooled by how cautious this pumpkin is – when it gets going, there's no stopping it! Get this pumpkin if you think that sometime you're just a little too brash and need some help sounding more professional.

Turn you to stone-pilot

Smite your enemies with your pumpkin! This pumpkin will help ensure that you will shut down any opposition in your email chains. It will help you write incredibly persuasive decks with a quick command. And it does so without the slightest hesitancy around norms or niceties!

Warning: not for use in collaborative office environments.

Distinguished Mr. Pumpkin

Class up your work with Distinguished Mr. Pumpkin! His auto-filter will ensure that your communication all sound like they're coming from the elite. It's like having The New Yorker style guide as your editor full time!

Daredevil-pilot

The Daredevil is not for the weak of heart. This pumpkin has seen some really tough situations, but he always makes it through! Best for people who need just a little more courage to be more assertive in their work.

Sweatin' to the pumpkin

Are you having problems getting your steps in? Well this pumpkin will never let you miss your steps! But it also brings this energy to your emails and to your writing in general, where it can help get rid of any passive voice it finds.

Stripy-pilot

Most pumpkins see the world as a whole, but Stripy can see through the forest to get to the trees. Stripy's model is finely tuned for data analysis and description. However, they're not good at strategic planning, so you may need to adopt a second pumpkin tuned for that if that's your goal.

Fire-pilot

Are you struggling with getting noticed? This won't happen with fire-pilot! They'll spice up all of your communication, and even suggest outfit changes to help you stand out!

This pumpkin should not be adopted by anyone who is easily persuaded, as it can turn you into Zoolander without any limits.

Fuzzy-pilot

Think of the coziest cup of tea, the coziest book, the coziest window box with the coziest book – that’s what Fuzzy-pilot is. She will make you feel cozy and safe all the time! Suffering from work-related PTSD? You may be prescribed Fuzzy-pilot as part of your treatment process.

Victorian pilot

Victorian pilot is trained on only the best Victorian era literature. This will help you include important metaphors and allusions in your work. Gasp in wonder as your peers recognize just how smart and well-read you really are!

ESPilot

A highly coveted pumpkin, ESPilot is the most cutting-edge model. With its clairvoyant third eye, ESPilot knows what you need, even before you do! ESPilot already knows which one of you will pick it for the procedure...

Disclaimer: ESPilot is not covered by most insurances due to its premium costs.
